The case of Enoch Arden has been The case of Encch Arden has been equalled in Holyoke, Massachusetts. William E. Marsh, of that town, has been missing and unheard of since 1862. He suddenly appeared, without warning, last week, to find that his brother William, having been divorced from his former wife, had married William's supposed widow a year or more ago.

There are 600 immense trees in the Mariposa region of California, of which the largest is 102 feet in circumference. The average height of these trees is about 250 feet, and many of them approaching (but only three or four exceed) 100 feet in circumference. Their age is calculated to be about 1,000 years.

One cattle ranche in Texas is fifty miles in extent—the number of head is 100,000, and 20,000 are sent to market every year, enough to supply the New York market six weeks.

Chicago has been indulging in another census, and solemnly declares its population to number 240,044, an increase in two years of about 30,000.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

FALLACIES OF THE FACULTY. The stomach is the ruling organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle every nerve and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? Unquestionably they can. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTET-TER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, tioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administived. This vegetable combination, which has become famous throughout the civilized world as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is an antidote to the disease, which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you wish to fool with the dyspopsia, try the pharmacopoeia prescriptions. If you want to root it out, and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for indigestion without being benefitted, the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues. virtues. Sept 2 †6

THE WEEKLY GLEANER-Devoted to the rehabilitation of the South in its former prosperity-is offered to subscribers at the

The annals of the American Republic show no political campaign comparable in the magnitude of its issues and the momentousness of its results to that for the Presidency, now pending. Indeed, the very life of free government is on trial, and it will be a sad commentary on the capacity of the people for the exercise of that high trust if they, the jurors who are to try the issue, pronounce a verdict of self-condemnation. If the South has any hope it is in the success of the Democratic party in the coming Presidential election: and every citizen is vitally interested in the progress of the battle, and cannot afford to be without a sound and reliable newspaper.

As an organ, not only of sound Democratic principles, but as a vehicle of general news, the GLEANER is confidently commended to Southern support. A large eight-page paper, of forty-eight columns, filled with the contributions of able correspondents, the daily wealth of tele-
